

(Download pdf ebook) Film History: An Introduction

Film History: An Introduction

Kristin Thompson, David Bordwell

Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook / ebooks*

 Download

 Read Online

#311341 in Books 1994-02-01 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.90 x 1.50 x 7.90, #File Name: 0070064458864 pages | File size: 17.Mb

Kristin Thompson, David Bordwell : Film History: An Introduction before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Film History: An Introduction:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A tremendous bargain book bought 2nd hand. By GreekpoetI got the first edition, the 3rd containing relatively little added info.....but at a cost of nearly $200. This one was in excellent condition, is a wonderful read for film buffs and film historians. Buy this book, and its companion Film Art, second hand for less than $20.....you'll be happy with both. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. good book By TJGood book. It has so many information. I feel like before you can be something good, you should know where that come from and this book give you a very well knowledge of it. Check it out. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Used Often, Still Usable By Zain Van WykThe book came in rather good condition. I can clearly tell how used it's been but overall, it's pretty usable.

Written by two of the leading film scholars, Film History: An Introduction, is the long-awaited, comprehensive survey that not only acknowledges the contributions of Hollywood and films from other U.S. sources, but broadens its scope to examine filmmaking internationally. As with the authors' bestselling Film Art, Fifth Edition, concepts and events are illustrated with actual frame enlargements, giving students more realistic points of reference than competing books that use publicity stills. Any serious film scholar -- professor, undergraduate, or graduate student -- will want to see and keep Film History.

About the Author Kristin Thompson is an Honorary Fellow at the University of Wisconsin - Madison. She holds a master's degree in film from the University of Iowa and a doctorate in film from the University of Wisconsin - Madison. She has published Eisenstein's Ivan the Terrible (Princeton University Press, 1981), Exporting Entertainment: America's Place in World Film Markets, 1907-1934 (British Film Institute, 1985), Breaking the Glass Armor: Neoformalist Film Analysis (Princeton University Press, 1988), and Wooster Proposes, Jeeves Disposes; or Le Mot Juste (James H. Heinman, 1992). In her spare time she studies Egyptology. The authors have collaborated on Film History (McGraw-Hill, 1994) with Janet Staiger, on The Classical Hollywood Cinema (Columbia University Press, 1985) and Storytelling in the New Hollywood (Harvard University Press, 1999) David Bordwell is Jacques Ledoux Professor of Film Studies at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He holds a master's degree and a doctorate from the University of Iowa. He is the author of The Films of Carl Theodor Dreyer (University California Press, 1981), Narration in the Fiction Film (University Wisconsin Press, 1985), Ozu and the Poetics of Cinema (British Film Institute/Princeton University Press, 1988), Making Meaning: Inference and Rhetoric in the Interpretation of Cinema (Harvard University Press, 1989), The Cinema of Eisenstein (Harvard University Press, 1993), On the History of Film Style (Harvard University Press, 1997) and Planet Hong Kong: Popular Cinema and the Art of Entertainment (Harvard University Press, 2000). He has won a University Distinguished Teaching Award.