Tom Tierney : French Film Stars Paper Dolls (Dover Celebrity Paper Dolls) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised French Film Stars Paper Dolls (Dover Celebrity Paper Dolls):

French Film Stars By Nevada Snow I've admired Tom Tierney's paper dolls for years, so I guess it was because of my high expectations that my disappointment with this book was so huge. The illustrations were not up to his usual standard. The only accurate portrayals were of Juliette Binoche and Capucine. The Leslie Caron, Catherine Deneuve and Isabelle Adjani dolls bore no resemblance to the actresses whatsoever, and the others weren't that great either. It was also strange that one of the greatest stars of French cinema, Arletty, was not included while a relative newcomer like Audrey Tautou was. There was also an odd note in the text saying that Capucine and Audrey Hepburn became friends before they were famous, when both had been house models for Givenchy. Audrey Hepburn met Givenchy when she approached him to supply costumes for "Sabrina". She was never his house model. It makes me wonder how accurate the notes about the other actresses were.

Innovative, dramatic, and highly entertaining, French films found their niche in art house motion pictures of the 1920s. Within a few years, French actresses were among the most popular and internationally acclaimed performers. This exciting paper doll collection spotlights sixteen lovely French legends of the silver screen each with costumes from two of her most famous films. Included are figures of Anouk Aime, Fanny Ardant, Brigitte Bardot, Emmanuelle Bart, Juliette Binoche, Leslie Caron, Danielle Darrieux, Catherine Deneuve, Isabelle Huppert, Jeanne Moreau, Simone Signoret, Simone Simon, Isabelle Adjani, Capucine, Delphine Seyrig, and Audrey Tautou. Detailed notes provide biographical information about each star, films in which she has appeared, and costume descriptions.
