Paul Cooke : German Expressionist Films (Pocket Essentials) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised German Expressionist Films (Pocket Essentials):

Introducing readers to one of the most influential film movements of the 20th century, responsible for such widely-known classics as Nosferatu, Metropolis and The Blue Angel, this Pocket Essential travels all the way from Germany in the swinging Twenties to explain the context and main themes of German Expressionism, to America in the '40s and '50s, where exiles such as Billy Wilder and Fritz Lang were transforming Hollywood. Packed full of facts and analysis of many classic films, this is the best starting point for anyone interested in this period of film history.
