From horrifying classics like Orson Welles' "War of the Worlds" and "Donovan's Brain" to edge-of-the-seat thrillers like "The Maze," this collection has a lot to offer. Surprise endings you didn't expect will shock you. A MUST for science fiction fans, the collection begins with an intro by Ray Bradbury himself! I love it because I like sci-fi and the shows are great theater of the mind. From AudioFile What could be better for the sci-fi listener? Ray Bradbury himself chooses 60 classic programs from such legendary radio series as "X-Minus One," "Suspense," "The Mysterious Traveler," and "Dimension X." Because these were commercial efforts, the sound effects and casting are as good as the producers could make them. The authors are classics too: Bradbury himself, Asimov, Heinlein, Verne, Siodmak, Leinster, Pohl, Sturgeon, Wells--and so are the actors: Laurence Olivier, Orson Welles, Robert Montgomery, Jeff Corey, Peggy Webber, Gene Lockhart, Mason Adams, Ross Martin, and many others. A fascinating 60-page booklet is included. D.R.W. Winner of AudioFile Earphones Award AudioFile 2002, Portland, Maine-- Copyright AudioFile, Portland, Maine
