Humor, pathos, bits of life from an industry few of us know yet most of us can't help but be interested in. Anyone who likes movies or television will get a kick out of this book. The more you are a fan and the larger your acquaintance of older movies, the more you will enjoy it.This 322 page, 10 3/4" X 8 1/4" book has a nice glossy cover, tons of photographs of actors being readied for their scenes and a Table of Contents in the beginning and an Index at the end. A bargain for movie lovers!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. What a way to go!By DANIExccellent and very insightful.

You learn how the studios used to run in those wonderful days of Hollywood. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. So much better than most books about the rich and famous. By C.J. I love the way the author tells about herself as well as the stars she worked on. It was fascinating learning how she got that job and all the places she went to.

Life behind the scenes of Hollywood as told by Ginger Sugar Blymyer. Hairdresser to the Stars for forty years, she shares her intimate experiences with the actors and actresses. It's about exciting times that now have vanished. A warm memoir and an inspiration to those who are thinking of entering show biz.

About the Author Hollywood film hairstylist, Ginger Sugar Blymyer has lived and worked with the most fascinating people in the world. She's heard their innermost thoughts. This is her story about show business at its most highly exciting times, just before everything changed and what happened after that. She worked for seventeen years with Natalie Wood and many years with Elizabeth Montgomery. Her story includes rare experiences with her favorites; Sean Connery, Tom Hanks, Tom Cruise, William Hurt, Robert Redford, Nick Nolte, Sir Laurence Olivier, James Mason and Gregory Hines and many more. This book is for people interested in film and stars, life behind the scenes, people who want to work in the industry and women looking for a mentor. It is one woman's history of Hollywood. She lives in Snowville, New Hampshire on Foss Mountain, in the forest and loves it. Her husband and daughters and grandchildren and pets all think she is a little unusual, but love her anyway.
